Welcome to my Website!

Hi everyone! I am Duarte, a student from Portugal and in this website you will be able to know me better as well as get some useful informations about ICT and about HZ.

Motivation

I studied IT in my final year of high school in which I learned a bit how to work in Python and I found it very interesting, so I want to learn more about programming and programming languages.

Another of my motivation is my passion and love for videogames, and if I can transmite that passion to other people by helping to create one I would feel really good.

Personal SWOT Analysis

Strengths:

I am resilient and don't give up on things, so if I have a problem on something I work hard to get it fixed.

Weaknesses:

I am really desorganized and have a really hard time on figuring out how to manage my time without leaving things to do at the last second.

Opportunities:

I can try to fix some problem near the deadline because I will try all I can to solve it.

Threats:

Because of my desorganization I may not let enough time to do my assignments or even forget about them.

Programming experience

I have some experience in programming, Pyhon to be more specific, since I studied it in my last high school year and I really liked it and found it very interesting so I want to know more, but I don't have any experience in HTML or Java Script so I'm really interested in learning both of them.
